“PATH TO THE RIVER”, ORIGINAL PAINTING BY PAT MAHONY

Pat Mahony has been showing locally and nationally for over 30 years. Her work has been collected by numerous corporations, private individuals and museums across the country, including the Crocker Art Museum in Sacramento. Mahony is represented by the John Natsoulas Gallery in Davis and the Chris Winfield Gallery in Carmel.

This painting was inspired by an afternoon drive on Highway 49. We were up in the foothills with a remarkable perspective toward the American River. It was a view that I imagined a bird might have, abstracted with dramatic contrasts of lights and darks and color.
